

Welcome Chaperones!

---

First time to the Park? Here are some tips to help make your trip a success.

1. Talkative group? Help them remember to raise their hands to join the whole conversation and discourage side conversations.
2. Spend time with small groups that look like they may not be staying on topic. You can help focus them; ask them questions tied to the activity or what they are looking at.
3. We love having adults who actively participate in education programs, but remember that the students' questions—and answers—come first.
4. Are there some students that you can tell are distracting each other? Help them stay focused by quickly separating them.

We are so glad you've decided to come to San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park. We hope that your trip is fun and full of learning!

Welcome Chaperones!

---

First time to the Park? Here are some tips to help make your trip a success.

1. Talkative group? Help them remember to raise their hands to join the whole conversation and discourage side conversations.
2. Spend time with small groups that look like they may not be staying on topic. You can help focus them; ask them questions tied to the activity or what they are looking at.
3. We love having adults who actively participate in education programs, but remember that the students' questions—and answers—come first.
4. Are there some students that you can tell are distracting each other? Help them stay focused by quickly separating them.

We are so glad you've decided to come to San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park. We hope that your trip is fun and full of learning!

Welcome Chaperones!

---

First time to the Park? Here are some tips to help make your trip a success.

1. Talkative group? Help them remember to raise their hands to join the whole conversation and discourage side conversations.
2. Spend time with small groups that look like they may not be staying on topic. You can help focus them; ask them questions tied to the activity or what they are looking at.
3. We love having adults who actively participate in education programs, but remember that the students' questions—and answers—come first.
4. Are there some students that you can tell are distracting each other? Help them stay focused by quickly separating them.

We are so glad you've decided to come to San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park. We hope that your trip is fun and full of learning!

Welcome Chaperones!

---

First time to the Park? Here are some tips to help make your trip a success.

1. Talkative group? Help them remember to raise their hands to join the whole conversation and discourage side conversations.
2. Spend time with small groups that look like they may not be staying on topic. You can help focus them; ask them questions tied to the activity or what they are looking at.
3. We love having adults who actively participate in education programs, but remember that the students' questions—and answers—come first.
4. Are there some students that you can tell are distracting each other? Help them stay focused by quickly separating them.

We are so glad you've decided to come to San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park. We hope that your trip is fun and full of learning!

Welcome Chaperones!

---

First time to the Park? Here are some tips to help make your trip a success.

1. Talkative group? Help them remember to raise their hands to join the whole conversation and discourage side conversations.
2. Spend time with small groups that look like they may not be staying on topic. You can help focus them; ask them questions tied to the activity or what they are looking at.
3. We love having adults who actively participate in education programs, but remember that the students' questions—and answers—come first.
4. Are there some students that you can tell are distracting each other? Help them stay focused by quickly separating them.

We are so glad you've decided to come to San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park. We hope that your trip is fun and full of learning!

Welcome Chaperones!

---

First time to the Park? Here are some tips to help make your trip a success.

1. Talkative group? Help them remember to raise their hands to join the whole conversation and discourage side conversations.
2. Spend time with small groups that look like they may not be staying on topic. You can help focus them; ask them questions tied to the activity or what they are looking at.
3. We love having adults who actively participate in education programs, but remember that the students' questions—and answers—come first.
4. Are there some students that you can tell are distracting each other? Help them stay focused by quickly separating them.

We are so glad you've decided to come to San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park. We hope that your trip is fun and full of learning!