

FOSTERING EMPATHY THROUGH MUSEUMS

Edited by
Elif M. Gokcigdem

Book Launch:

Fostering Empathy Through Museums
Elif Gokcigdem, editor, with book contributors

Date and Time:

Friday, October 21, 2016, 5:00-6:30 p.m.

Location:

The George Washington University
Museum and The Textile Museum,
701 21st Street NW, Washington, DC

There is a rapidly growing need for empathy to shape one's purpose and build connections in a complex world. Museums are uniquely equipped to foster empathy as a means to achieve personal, institutional, and societal progress. Join us for a discussion with the contributors to this new volume of trailblazing case studies.

- Elif Gokcigdem, Editor, Fostering Empathy Through Museums
- Miriam Bader, Director of Education, Lower East Side Tenement Museum
- Emlyn Koster, Director, North Carolina Museum of Natural Sciences
- Amy Landau, Director of Curatorial Affairs and Curator of Islamic and South and Southeast Asian Art, The Walters Art Museum
- Jordan Potash, Assistant Professor, Art Therapy Program at the George Washington University
- Tommy Wide, Assistant Director for Special Projects, Freer and Sackler Galleries of Art, Smithsonian Institution

Free.
No reservations required.